

This is crazy! Here in ns. we are trying to get rid of fracking water. It is stored in Debert. The plant itself is horrific and when you drive by the toxic smell is unbearable. We the people put a stop to it being dumped in Debert which eventually would seep into the bay of Fundy. No one wants this in their backyard. Are they mad or just greedy? I am most concerned about the fish. I only want to eat fish from the North Atlantic . As far as tourism goes you won't see myself or family visiting NF if this goes ahead Think about your children and grandchildren. This should never be considered.
