

Going ahead with this will only end in tears. Negative impact, the environment, health and the air. There will be pain no matter what we do, but mitigation offers us a change to survive and thrive, economically, use your power for good, stitching to sustainable energy will provide millions of jobs, get hundreds of factories working again. Hard to see a downside in THAT.