

Keep Newfoundland and Labrador frack-free

This is a time to think sustainably.

Nothing about fracking is sustainable; from the use of unsustainable amounts of water, to the wastewater, which are filled with hazardous chemicals , with no safe method of disposal.

I have seen what happens here in BC to the communities that live near the fracking sites, the gas coming out of the water taps, the smell, the health risks, and the damage to the pristine environment.

it is our family dream to visit these pristine areas in NF , to see nature and beauty, not the aftermath of fracking operations.

Ban fracking in Newfoundland and Labrador: There is widespread community opposition to fracking. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have moratoriums. We need to transition to green energy, yesterday!

Sincerely,

Gili Avrahami
