

Keep Newfoundland and Labrador frack-free

Fracking is being proven to be hazardous to communities on several levels, the disposal of waste being the most obvious. To be using water, a precious commodity, in this way seems ludicrous. We need alternatives to fossil fuel, not new ways of squeezing the earth dry. Sink holes and seismic activity are a fact in the States where this is being pursued, why must we copy their short sightedness?

Sincerely,

J. Kovacs
