

I think as Canadians we are extremely fortunate to have good, clean water. My main objection to fracking is that there is a potential to ruin drinking water and to make it so that it is hazardous to the health rather than a boon to the health. Also, I think we need to protect the amount of water that we have available for drinking and growing food. The climate impacts of CO2 and methane which can be very damaging to our environment are also very real concerns. I really feel that rather than ruin our environment for the sake of producing shale oil that we need to be looking at ways we can cut back on our use of oil. I really hope that Newfoundland and Labrador put a moratorium on fracking.

Sincerely,

P. Boyd
