

Keep Newfoundland and Labrador frack-free

It is becoming increasingly clear that hydraulic fracturing can cause severe effects on the environment. At the very least, this practice should be banned until it can be shown that no environmental or social harm can be done by its use.

Sincerely,

P. Moller